ONGOING: Fernbank Museum is the home to a world-class archaeological collection. <http://www.fernbankmuseum.org/media/6660/St%20Catherines%20Island.pdf> The St. Catherines Island Foundation and Edward John Noble Foundation Collection. This collection is the product of 30 years of research led by Dr. David Hurst Thomas, Curator of North American Archaeology at the American Museum of Natural History. Artifacts and records from this work will be used at Fernbank for the creation of new exhibitions and programs. St. Catherines Island is an unspoiled Georgia barrier island situated along the Atlantic coast in Liberty County, Georgia.

The St. Catherines Island research, and the collection produced by it, is very important. The results are as critical to understanding world history as they are to filling out the picture of Georgia's past.

Atlanta Preservation Center Preserved on Glass. Civil War Photography Exhibit. Now on exhibit in Drawing Room Gallery of the 1856 antebellum Grant Mansion. The sesquicentennial celebration of the Battle of Atlanta shows rare photographs of antebellum Atlanta. http://atlantapreservationcenter.com/Preserved_on_Glass

March 7-22, 2015 • The Phoenix Flies

The Phoenix Flies is a Celebration of Atlanta's Historic Sites. Atlanta's historic built environment of buildings, landscapes and neighborhoods is an integral part of the City's culture. This is an opportunity to get inside some historic landmarks, homes and churches; experience walking or home tours that bring Atlanta's history to life. The Phoenix Flies Celebration provides an opportunity to learn about Atlanta through guided and self-guided tours. A few of the events and tours include: Civil War Fort Walker tour, the Trolley Barn; Unseen Underground, Standing Peachtree Park, The Piedmont Driving Club, Front Lines of the Battle of Atlanta Walking Tour, Westview Abbey Architectural Lecture, Battle of Utoy, Utoy Creek, Utoy Church and Cemetery & Keenan Research Center Tour. Our own Jim D'Angelo and Wayne Waldrup will be involved, and invite us to participate. See the full schedule of events: http://www.atlantapreservationcenter.com/2015_phoenix_flies

NEW PLACE TO EXPLORE: The Chieftains Museum / Major Ridge Home is a National Historic Landmark, a designation reserved for the most significant sites in America. As the only surviving home in this area of one of the two most influential leaders in the history of Cherokee removal, it is also a designated site on the congressionally-designated Trail of Tears National Historic Trail. While living in this home Major Ridge participated in the establishment of the Cherokee constitutional government with legislative, executive, and judicial branches. He served as Speaker of the Cherokee National Council, and counselor of the Cherokee Nation and was considered by at least some of his contemporaries to be the greatest orator of the Cherokee Nation. 501 Riverside Parkway | Rome, Georgia 706-291-9494
